Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims (claims 1 and 2) are not in single sentence format. See the format of the patents cited.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 (as best understood) are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Finnegan 4,832,208 in view of Horne 4,515,334. Finnegan teaches the device claimed including the ability to stack the racks one on top of the other. Absent is the specific showing of a wider area and a reduced area for specifically conforming to the shape of a bottle.

Horne specifically teaches a wider area and a more narrow area for the purpose of conforming to the shape of a wine bottle.

To adapt the Finnegan device with wider and more narrow sections to better conform to the specific shape of a wine bottle would have been obvious for one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Similar stacking racks are illustrated by Parcels 3,372,812; Cash 6,981,597; Ivey 6,615,996 and Suarez 5,755,541.
